WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—For this section, fair and continued cold tonight. Thursday fair; light to fresh westerly winds, becoming variable.

DEATH OF A PRINTER.—Mr. W. H. H. Whitcomb, an old and well-known resident, died at his home, corner of Duke and Royal streets, at an early hour this morning. The deceased was in his 65th year. He was born in Washington and at an early age learned the printing business, an occupation he followed throughout most of his life. Mr. Whitcomb came to Alexandria in the latter part of the '50s, and was employed for a time on the Gazette. Later he went to St. Louis, but returned to Alexandria in 1881 and was an employee of this office for several years afterwards, or during most of the war time. He was subsequently assistant foreman of the old Congressional Globe under the Messrs. Rives, and for a time held a position in the Census Bureau in Washington. Of late he had worked at his trade in this city until his physical infirmities compelled him to desist. About nine years ago he was partially prostrated by a stroke of paralysis. He was eminently respected, but serious organic troubles developed later from which he suffered greatly, until this morning, when death overtook him. The deceased leaves a widow (daughter of the late Charles L. Neale) and five children—two sons and four daughters—all of whom are grown. Mr. Whitcomb was an expert printer, careful and reliable, and performed his duties to the satisfaction of all for whom he worked. His many friends and acquaintances, and especially his former companions in the composing room, will regret to hear of his death. Mr. Whitcomb was a member of Alexandria Council, Royal Arcanum.

FOULKE'S COMPANION DEAD.—The man supposed to be James McCarthy, who accompanied Charles Foulke, the safe blower, and was injured with him at the Virginia Midland crossing of the Southern Railway, above this city, about two weeks ago, died yesterday evening at 6 o'clock at the Emergency Hospital in Washington. Death resulted from shock, the fracture of both legs and hips, and internal injuries. The body is at the morgue. Foulke and McCarthy were taken from the scene of the accident on a freight train from the city on a freight train. First it was believed they had been struck by a train, but when the identity of Foulke became known, the burns about his body led to the belief that an explosion had caused their injuries. The theory was advanced that the men intended to hold up a train and possibly blow open the mail car, or dynamite a safe, and postoffice inspectors were interested in the investigation. Then Foulke was identified, it is said, beyond doubt, but his death closed further inquiry as to his recent exploits. McCarthy was about forty years of age.

THE MONITOR PURITAN.—The double-turret monitor Puritan, the first to arrive of the fleet of seven war vessels which will be brought here in connection with the inaugural ceremonies in Washington, came up the river last evening and dropped anchor just below the wharf. On account of the heavy draught of several of the vessels they will not proceed to Washington but will anchor near this city. The Dolphin passed up the river this morning and with the Sylph and a torpedo boat destroyer will tie up at the navy yard wharf, where they will be open for inspection by the inaugural visitors. The larger vessels which will anchor off Alexandria will also be open to inspection by such as care to visit them. The sailors to the number of about 1,000 will go from the warships on the ferry boat—which has been chartered for the occasion—and will take part in the inaugural parade.

MUSICAL.—In the handsome parlors of the residence of Mrs. Oscar F. Carter on Washington street, was gathered last night a most interested and appreciative audience in honor of a musical cital given by the pupils of Mrs. Carter. Each selection from the ones rendered by children who have only this session begun music to those who have deserved applause. All showed most skillful and faithful training, and it would be difficult to decide whether most credit was due to Mrs. Carter by her scholars or to the pupils by their teacher. After the musical programme was concluded, Mrs. Carter gave a most interesting lecture on musical instruction, which was very happily illustrated by members of her class. During the evening Miss Sara Taylor, Miss Pollard and Mrs. O. Carter delighted the audience with charming musical selections.

COL. F. L. SMITH.—Mr. J. H. Trimyer, of Alexandria, was in the city yesterday. He says a quiet movement is on foot in that city to have Colonel Francis L. Smith announce himself a candidate for the constitutional convention. Mr. Trimyer said: "Colonel Smith is a gentleman of ability and standing in the city of Alexandria, and he would be acceptable to practically all the people, and would reflect great credit upon the State. Colonel Smith will not, in my opinion, make a contest for the nomination, but the movement in his behalf is likely to prove successful, and he will undoubtedly represent Alexandria in the convention. I think it would be well to eliminate the office-holders and politicians from the convention." [Richmond Dispatch.

City Engineer Holcombe has postponed till Saturday the opening of the bids for the Pitt street sewer.

Three more cases of smallpox, all the victims being colored, were sent to the hospital in Washington yesterday.

An interesting meeting of Alexandria Council, Royal Arcanum, was held last night, when one member was initiated and two applications for membership were received.

Mr. A. R. Travis has been appointed agent in this city for the sale of a most interesting book, The Great Galveston Disaster, just published. It is handsomely illustrated and contains many narratives of the survivors of that great disaster.

A number of officials of the Pennsylvania and of the Southern Railway Companies met today in the office of Mr. A. W. Armstrong to settle a boundary line at the south end of the Long Bridge and ordered a survey to be made of the ground there.

The weather turned quite cold again last night, but not much ice formed on the river, and that now in the stream affords but little impediment to navigation. A tow of oyster boats arrived yesterday evening and proceeded to Washington and another tow passed down the river this morning.

Mr. Frank Dent reported at the station house today that at an early hour this morning while he was delivering bread at the corner of Queen and Henry streets an attempt was made by a colored man to rob him. The negro first asked Mr. Dent for bread, then for money and then attempted to jump into this wagon, but Mr. Dent made his escape after the negro had cut the reins of the horse he was driving.

Lost Their Savings of a Lifetime.
Chicago, Feb. 27.—In the excitement attending the preparations of Mrs. Mary Cooley and her husband to return to their old home in Australia which they left 40 years ago, the savings of a lifetime of the old couple, amounting to $3,670, were sold inadvertently to a rag dealer for 11 cents. Friday afternoon the husband opened the door in response to the rapping of a rag picker. A small bundle was swept together and handed to him who counted out 11 cents. A few moments later, the wife, nothing the disappearance of the scraps, asked her husband where they were. When told, she gasped that the money had been wrapped in a small bag and thrust among the rags for safety. The frantic couple vainly searched the alleys and wandered about the city seeking to identify the dealer for 48 hours before their story was related to the police. Despite the efforts of detectives no trace of the man has been found. The destitute couple have requested the steamship company to return a portion of the money paid for passage, to supply them with the immediate necessities of life.

Big Raid on Gambling Houses.

New York, Feb. 27.—Men wearing opera hats and evening dress led the police to eleven big gambling houses early this morning and the Tenderloin was treated to the most extensive and spectacular raid in its history. The raiders included judges, millionaires and others. Shortly after midnight they marched into the police station and handed the sergeant in charge warrants for the arrest of eleven gamblers. A detail was ordered to serve each warrant, but some of the gamblers received word of the invasion and closed up, but it did not save them. Doors were smashed open and in deserted rooms the gambling apparatus was seized and many arrests were made. Coily roulette wheels, fars lay-out, chips, and cards were dumped promiscuously into the wagon. The raiders returned to the police station with dozens of prisoners, and paraphernalia enough to fill a storage warehouse. Judge Jerome released many of the prisoners on bail. Thousands of people witnessed the raid.

Attempted Murder and Suicide.
Springfield, Mass., Feb. 27.—About six o'clock last night at Long Meadow, John D. Cassels shot Mrs. Edward Lane and attempted suicide by taking carbolic acid. The woman may live a few days but death is certain. The man will probably recover. The affair was the result of an insane infatuation of Cassels for Mrs. Lane. Cassels is married and has a wife and four children in England. Mrs. Lane has a husband and three small children. Cassels claims to have given Mrs. Lane all the money he could afford. He would not have minded that, he said, if she had eloped with him as he said they had planned.

Lynched for Murder.
Scranton, Miss., Feb. 27.—John Knox, a white man, was lynched last night for the murder of Don Davis. The mob was made up of about 100 men and all were fully armed. They caught and bound the sheriff and his deputies and battered down the jail door, soon securing their prisoner. After Knox was strung up a fusillade of bullets was fired into his body. Knox made no protest and as she came here to be treated for the morphia habit. It was thought she was simply a morphia victim, come west to seek relief from the drug. Time soon developed another reason for her coming and for the accused name. She was resident concerning her past and even the nurse knew her identity until her child was born February 17. Then Mrs. Ives, in a confidential mood, told the nurse that it was the child of Charles Gorman. The little one died the day it was born.

From South Africa.
Capetown, Feb. 27.—Eight more cases of bubonic plague are reported here. Two Europeans are in the number. Serious alarm has been created by the steady increase of the dread disease. The outbreak may necessitate a transference of the army base to Port Elizabeth.

Ives, widow of the Napoleon of finance, whose meteoric career of a decade ago was the marvel of the commercial world, died Thursday night. Her body was shipped to New York for burial. She made no protest and as she came here to be treated for the morphia habit. It was thought she was simply a morphia victim, come west to seek relief from the drug. Time soon developed another reason for her coming and for the accused name. She was resident concerning her past and even the nurse knew her identity until her child was born February 17. Then Mrs. Ives, in a confidential mood, told the nurse that it was the child of Charles Gorman. The little one died the day it was born.

A Prominent Chicago Woman Speaks.
Prof. Rosa Tyler, of Chicago, Vice-President Illinois Women's Alliance, in speaking of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, says: "I suffered with a severe cold this winter which threatened to run into pneumonia. I tried different remedies but I seemed to grow worse and the medicine upset my stomach. A friend advised me to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and I found it was pleasant to take and it relieved me at once. I am now entirely recovered, saved a doctor's bill, time and suffering, and I will never be without this splendid medicine again." For sale by Richard Gibson, druggist.

For the weakness and prostration following grippe there is nothing so prompt and effective as One Minute Cough Cure. This preparation is highly endorsed as an unfailing remedy for all throat and lung troubles and its early use prevents consumption. It was made to cure quickly.

FIFTY-SIXTH CONGRESS.
Washington, February 27.

SENATE.
Consideration of the army appropriation bill was resumed after brief routine business.

Request for consent for the consideration of private bills and conference reports were made by many members, but emphatically objected to by Mr. Shoup, who had the army bill in charge.

Mr. Allen introduced the following resolution: Resolved, That the Secretary of the Navy be, and he is hereby, directed to send to the Senate copies of the letter of Charles Morgan, gunner in the U. S. navy, addressed to Admiral W. T. Sampson in the month of February, 1901, asking for a recommendation to the Secretary of the Navy for promotion to the office of ensign in the navy and Admiral Sampson's endorsement thereof, and all other letters and communications on the subject between Admiral Sampson and the Navy Department.

The resolution went over until tomorrow.

Mr. Turner continued his remarks in opposition to the Cuban and Philippine amendments which he had begun at last night's session.

When Mr. Turner completed his remarks Mr. Teller took the floor. He said that while he did not favor the Philippine and Cuban amendments he thought they had been shorn of much of their viciousness. If a democratic Congress were to follow this, he declared, he would strenuously oppose the amendments, but inasmuch as the republican majority in the next Congress would be still larger and the possibilities of vicious legislation along this line greater, he favored the settlement of these problems at this time. Mr. Teller introduced an amendment during his remarks providing "That the Constitution of the United States be extended and declared to be in force over the Philippines."

Mr. Hoar who was preparing to follow Mr. Teller, interrupted the latter's remarks to declare that "we had no more right to govern the people of the Philippines than they had to govern us."

Mr. Teller concluded at 1:30 o'clock and Mr. Pettigrew began his speech in opposition to the Philippine amendment. Mr. Pettigrew read what he declared were sworn copies of letters written by Assistant Adjutant General Heistand to Major Hawkes who it is declared had organized a hemp company for operation in the Philippines. These letters indicated that Adjutant General Corbin and Assistant Secretary of War Meiklejohn were partners in the enterprise but had later retired. The letters read were on war department stationery and referred to alleged advice secured by Heistand in his official position, that he would aid in the organization of the company.

When Mr. Pettigrew concluded, Mr. Mallory suggested the absence of a quorum.

Mr. Bacon spoke in opposition to the Philippines amendment, after a quorum had been declared. He held that he would rather see ten ship subsidy bills pass, in preference to the amendment. The charge that the minority had withdrawn objection because their eyes had been dazzled by benefits to be received was false. He declared he thought there ought to be an extra session.

HOUSE.
According to an order made at the beginning of the session of the House today the hour of meeting during the remainder of the session will be 11 o'clock.

The conference report on the Military Academy appropriation bill was presented by Mr. Hull. The principal disagreement between the two houses, was on the bazing provision. As reported, the bazing amendment provides that the superintendent of the academy shall promulgate a code of rules to prevent bazing; that cadets guilty of bazing shall be expelled and never allowed to graduate, also that a cadet so expelled shall not receive a commission in the army, navy, or marine corps, within two years after his class graduates. The subject occasioned considerable debate. Mr. Hull stated that he did not believe it possible to secure more extended legislation on the subject but he did believe the present provision would effectually prevent bazing.

Mr. Dick, chairman of the special bazing committee, also favored the amendment.

At 1 o'clock the report was unanimously agreed to.

After an hour's debate the conference report on the District of Columbia appropriation bill was agreed to.

The conference report on the fortifications appropriation bill was agreed to without debate.

A bill making regulations for the civil government of Porto Rico was sent to conference.

The consideration of the submarine boat amendment of the Senate to the naval appropriation bill was resumed, and Mr. Watson took the floor to oppose the amendment.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.
Jude Brown, of the U. S. Circuit Court at Boston, has decided against the American Bell Telephone Company in the famous Berliner patent case. The decision in a nutshell was that Berliner was not the inventor, that he was antedated by both Bell and Edison, that if he was the inventor, he would have taken out a patent before he did.

A terrible explosion occurred yesterday at a saw mill in Grayson county, D. P. Adams, the owner, and Thomas Hutchins, the sawyer, were killed. The hot water scalded on the eyes of Thomas Hightower, who was at work near the engine, and his son was knocked senseless.

A Washington special says that Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Vanderlip's resignation from the Cabinet precipitated largely by his decision on the Russian sugar bounty.

THE DOCTORS.—The first session of the Tri State Medical Association met in Richmond yesterday. Attorney-General Montague delivered the address of welcome. President Kolkoff paid his respects to State ex-amining boards. He insisted that the written examinations were not productive of the best results. He advocated an oral examination and a demonstration of ability in actual practice. He also advocated the medical inspection of all schools. He made a strong appeal for legislation preventing the marriage of persons suffering from tuberculosis, citing statistics to show its rapid spread.

Pearls Found in Vermont.
Everyone is talking about the "Green Mountain Pearls." Did you know that they cure liver troubles, constipation, bad digestion, nausea, full headache, dizziness and foul breath? There never was a pill so quick which acted so quickly and gently and they don't gripe one bit. A trial is all we ask—we know what the result will be.

WARFIELD & HALL.
A powerful engine cannot be run with a weak boiler, and we can't keep the strain of an active life with a weak stomach; neither can we stop the human machine to make repairs. If the stomach cannot digest enough food to keep the body strong, such a preparation as Kodol Dyspepsia Cure should be used. It digests what you eat and it simply can't help but do you good.
